Chapter 26 Powerpoint Project

Section 1, Part 1 Instructions
The Cultures of China and Korea

- You will base your powerpoint on the information from page 483 to the end of the “Changing Korea” section of page 484 of your textbook. Do not include the last paragraph on page 484 about Japan.

- Include the “Setting the Scene” section in your powerpoint. However, it should only take up one or two slides.

- Do not copy sentences directly out of the book unless they are definitions for key words, or they are sentences that I have listed below for you to underline.

- Remember to make the key word commune bold and to define it.

- Written below are sentences that will be on the test. Include these in your powerpoint and remember to underline them.

  - When the communist government came to power in China in 1949, it changed Chinese life by creating farm communes.

  - A commune is a community in which land is held in common and people live and work together.

- Communism Brings Change
  - When the communist government came to power in 1949, it changed Chinese life by creating farm communes.
  - A commune is land that is owned by the government where people live and work together.
  - Chinese farmers resisted the communes because they were used to working as a small family.
